Q. In a Wedding that is celebrated in the Catholic Church, are the persons who are chosen to read the Word of God required to be Roman Catholics? Must the best man and maid of honour be Catholics?

A. No, there is no such requirement for either.

The Readers at the Wedding

The couple can choose up to three

Readers at their

wedding; two for

the First and Second Biblical Readings and a third,

for the General In-

tercessions that

are an integral part

both of a Wedding

Mass and a Wedding Ceremony.

without Mass. Of

course, it is obvious

that the Readers who are chosen by the

bride and groom

should be able to

proclaim the Word

of God and the In-

tercessions with

reverence and

clarity. However,

the religious af-

filiation of the

readers is not

at issue. Neither

is it required

that the readers

chosen are officially Readers

in their own

Parish, if they

happen to be

Catholics.

The Witnesses

In the official

language of

Marriage rituals

and of all requirement for either or both witnesses to be Roman Catholics. The only legal requirement both for the Church (and for the Province of Ontario) is that two individuals, regardless of their religious affiliation must stand as official witness to the marriage. By the way, although it is customary in Canada to choose a

man and a

woman to be

the witness-

es, there is

no rule that

specifies

their gen-

der. Therefore, if the

c o u p l e

w i s h e s ,

the wit-

nesses can

be either

two women

or

two men.

Who cannot

act as

witnesses

in

Civil Law?

must be

human beings

of either

gender

who are

capable

of understand-

the true significance of a marriage and the implications of their particiipation in it . Therefore, those who are legally excluded are infants, children, the intoxicated and certain developmentally challenged individuals, as specified by the Law.

MANY THANKS!

The R.F.D.A and the 'Dew Drop Inn' are very grateful for your generous foods and items donations last weekend. God bless you for your support of the less fortunate!
